Funded Project Spotlight:

Classroom Sensory Bins

Duzine Elementary School

Renee Reynolds

In an effort to help students experience their feelings and learn how to self-regulate, each classroom at Duzine Elementary is now stocked with a Sensory Bin filled with items to help students explore multiple senses, including sight, sound, and touch. Sensory bins can help students calm, reset, and practice breathing through tactile sensation.

This project was developed through Duzine's Social/Emotional Learning Committee and funded by the NPCSD Foundation for Student Enhancement.
